Examining the table and document content, the Log of Work-Related Injuries and Illnesses page is a mandatory document for all establishments covered by OSHA Part 1904. It requires completing even if there were no work-related injuries or illnesses during the year. The Log is used to verify the completeness and accuracy of the entries before completing the Summary page.

The document contains fields for:
- Number of Cases: totaling the number of deaths, cases away from work, cases with job transfer or restriction, and other recordable cases.
- Number of Days: totaling the number of days away from work and days of job transfer or restriction.
- Injury and Illness Types: listing categories such as Injury, Skin Disorder, Respiratory Cond., Poisoning, Hearing Loss, and All Other.

The form also requires certification from a company executive confirming that the entries are true, accurate, and complete. The completed form must be posted from February 1 to April 30 of the following year to the public.

For detailed access provisions, refer to 29 CFR Part 1904.35 in OSHA’s recordkeeping rule.
